

Critical Thinking/Discussion Questions: -Robert Eisenstein

Website: <https://tnholcom.org/>

1. How did Robert's identity as a Jewish-American army soldier shape his memory of Dachau?
2. "We rode the jeep toward the barracks," Robert Eisenstein recalls. "People were still there. They looked at us. We looked at them. Hollow." How could this statement express the physical and emotional environment at Dachau?